

Targeted medicines: Art therapy CLL

- There are ~27,000 people with blood cancer on 'watch and wait'¹
 - know they have the cancer¹
 - no treatment is offered until the condition progresses¹
- Many feel confused and worried and find it hard to process and explain to others¹

Our collaboration is helping blood cancer patients, particularly those with CLL, to cope with the psychological and emotional burdens of the disease through journalling and art therapy

Approximately 40 patients have participated to date with positive feedback

The project is now being rolled out with a face-to-face session in Birmingham
